

Lonnie Moore

Author, High School Practice
Leader

Lonnie Moore is one of the most dynamic and requested speakers at FranklinCovey. Over the past twenty years, he has delivered over 2,000 speaking engagements. Lonnie's experience as a teacher, coach, consultant and product developer prepared him to help schools find solutions that result in long-term change.

Since joining FranklinCovey in 2000, Lonnie has successfully contributed to content development and the global growth of the Leader in Me Leadership Model. In his current role as High School Practice Leader, he guides high schools to effectively design and implement FranklinCovey based leadership solutions that help teens become life, college and career ready.

Prior to his work with FranklinCovey, Lonnie was a middle and high school math teacher. In his third year in the classroom, he was recognized as Mainstream Teacher of the Year in Pinellas County, Florida.

Lonnie is the author of The High-Trust Classroom, Raising Achievement from the Inside-Out (2009), and co-author of The Inspirational Teacher (2007).

Lonnie, Margie and their two daughters live in Tampa, Florida.
