Non-Federal Funding Sources

Many schools and districts use non-federal sources to fund FranklinCovey Education offerings, such as:

1. WALMART Community Grants
   - Amount: $250–$5,000
   - Description: Providing afterschool enrichment, tutoring or vocational training for low-income individuals and families in the local service area
   - Timeline: Applications accepted quarterly

2. National Education Association Foundation
   - Amount: $1,500–$5,000
   - Description: Leadership training for staff - Individuals to participate in high-quality professional development like summer institutes, conferences, seminars, or action research.
   - Timeline: Varies by year

3. McCarthey Dressman Education Foundation
   - Amount: Up to $10,000 per year
   - Description: Professional development for teachers
   - Timeline: Applications are available on January 15th and due April 15th each year

4. State Farm Foundation
   - Amount: Varies annually
   - Description: Education funding to support K-12 academic performance or financial literacy or STEM
   - Timeline: Applications are available by invitation only. Connect with a local State Farm office.

5. Key Bank
   - Amount: Varies annually
   - Description: Education grants to help students prepare for fulfilling careers by providing access to high-quality education as well as offering support to help them achieve academically.
   - Timeline: Applications are rolling

Other Ideas to Explore
- Local Chamber of Commerce
- Local United Way
- Local Education Foundation
- DonorsChoose.org